Hi! I'm Chiara Izzo, a 22-year-old student of Public and Corporate Communication.

I completed a degree in Business Administration and Green Economy, which helped me understand how business and sustainability can work together.

I'm a very curious and dynamic person. I love travelling and exploring new places.

In my free time, I like to relax by watching thriller movies and documentaries.

Music is one of my greatest passions; I studied piano for several years, and it continues to inspire me.

I have a strong interest in all forms of art, creativity, and innovation. I'm particularly passionate about the culinary world, where I love to visit new restaurants and try different dishes. Exploring diverse cuisines and discovering unique flavours is a thrilling experience for me. I find it fascinating to see how research and creativity come together in cooking, making each dish a work of art.

I'm always looking for ways to explore and expand my interests, whether through travel, music, or learning something new..
